The Paris Business College

Is now being organized by Prof. Lippard, of Cincinnati, and will open the first of January. Prof. Lippard has had a large experience in training young men and women for good positions and placing them in same, and every young person possible should enter at the opening. Nothing pays better than a business education. Positions secured for all graduates, and Prof. Lippard has calls for more graduates than he can furnish.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of O. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." Guaranteed by Oberdorfer, the druggist. Price 50c.

Dangers of Defective Plumbing!

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs or contagious disease to which the human system readily succumbs. Sewer gas is not necessarily generated in the sewer, but is frequently created in the plumbing system within the home and enters the apartments through defective fixtures. If in doubt, consult us regarding the piping and repairing defective fixtures with "STANDARD" Porcelain Enameled Ware, acknowledged as the best sanitary equipment.

OUR APOLOGY.

A card published in Saturday's Democrat, signed by Ida M. Keam, in reference to an editorial in our last issue is not worthy of notice, still it contains such rank misrepresentations of the editor of this sheet we feel it our duty to reply briefly. The lady demands an apology and we are of course bound to make one, so here goes. We deny publishing the article referred to through any "selfishness or malice" whatever. We deny calling several times to secure the printing of the book, only once and then sent for by the lady. We deny most emphatically of calling the lady or anyone else connected with this work fakirs. Webster gives the definition of "fakir" as a "begging monk," and surely we would not and could not use such a word in reference to this or any other lady, but if she insists that we called her one we most humbly apologize.

We do not care to get into a controversy with anyone, especially a lady, and will now let the matter drop, but to show that we meant no harm and that the article was only published for the public good we reprint it below:

UNDER THE CLOAK OF CHARITY.

When you see our merchants taken in almost daily by fake advertising schemes and our citizens in general by fakirs who come here getting up entertainments under the cloak of sweet charity, but in reality for themselves, we think the time has arrived to call a halt. For instance, our merchants have been visited in past ten days by a solicitor for advertisements to go into a catalogue, which will contain nothing but the ads. with a verse of poetry between each. Our merchants paid at the rate of $20 per page for twenty pages. This book is represented as being gotten out for the benefit of the hospital fund, the solicitor getting 80 per cent. and the hospital 20, so we are informed. The manuscript for 900 copies of this book is now in the hands of a Lexington printer. If this is not an imposition on our merchants we would like for some one to show us. It recalls the old saying, "you can fool some of the people all of the time, you can fool all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Then again, a lot of fakirs come here and get the ladies interested in getting up some kind of an entertainment for the hospital or some other charitable purpose. They spend about ten days in our midst, the ladies not only go to the expense of getting their children costumes for the entertainments but work themselves almost to death to make the entertainment a success, and after the show the strangers pocket the largest part of the proceeds and gone with our money forever, the hospital fund getting but a small per centage.

We are in favor of the Paris Hospital, we are in favor of home people getting up entertainments for the fund, and we are willing to help and boost along anything that will keep all of the money at home, whereby the hospital fund will get the money, but we are opposed to our people being imposed upon by a lot of traveling fakirs who go the rounds and make a living under the cloak of charity, it is nothing more or less than an outrage upon our citizens.

TAKE TIME BY THE FORELOCK.

Next month Paris will be the host of a large number of important and influential men of this State. The occasion will be the State Conclave of Knights Templar. A large number of these chivalrous Knights will bring their wives, daughters and sweethearts along with them. Therefore it behooves every citizen of Paris to begin now in cleaning up their premises and keep them clean. Let the city fathers see that our streets will have the appearance of being swept with a new broom every morning. We want these gallant Knights to leave our city with the impression that Paris is not only the best and prettiest city of the fourth class in our State, but that it is the cleanest. If everybody will take some pride in this matter and each do their duty, it will be an easy matter to so convince the visitors. A bushel of lime, a white wash brush, a few gallons of paint for fronts of houses, fences, etc., and a little labor, would tell the tale.

THE MAN WITH THE MUCK RAKE.

In his speech at the laying of the corner stone of the office building of the House of Representatives, President Roosevelt cited John Bunyan's man with the muck rake, as an illustration of the magazine and newspaper writers now engaged in criticising men in public life. The President placed special emphasis on the fact that Bunyan's man always looked down, and could not be induced to look up; and he stated that critics of public men were very much like him.

The President's illustration is not very apt. In the first place, critics of today are too frequently compelled to look down instead of up, because they find more down than up to write about. In the second place, critics of to-day do have ideals of what public men should be, and failing too frequently to find these ideals, have to account for their disappointment. In the third place, they do give credit where credit is due, but like all people have at last had the scales taken from their eyes, so that they see public men as they are.

Critics of to-day, generally speaking, are not like the man with the muck rake. The fact of the matter is they are much the same as the critics of yesterday; but the public men have changed, and to such an extent that they no longer enjoy the confidence of the people as public men used to.

Free Reclining Chair Cars.

The Southern Railway has inaugurated free reclining chair car service between Louisville and Evansville on their fast through trains leaving Louisville at 7:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. daily, and running solid to Evansville, without change. This line also operates free reclining chair cars on night Lexington and Danville to St. Louis, also Pullman Sleeper through from Danville to St. Louis. The Southern Railway is 23 miles the shortest from Louisville to Nashville and forty-three miles the shortest to St. Louis. tf

Need More Men.

The Northern Indiana Presbytery decided that extraordinary work must be put forth to convert more men "or there will not be enough bass singers to make harmony in the heavenly choir." It also decided to cut "hell" out of the creed. The words "eternal torments," which have stood in the Presbyterian creed for 250 years, will be stricken out. Instead, the term "destruction" will be substituted.
